

We apply a software licensing and delivery model in which our dashboard is licensed on a subscription basis, and where your dashboard and data are centrally hosted and maintained by Wattics. With our software-as-a-service (SaaS) solution you don't have to invest in extensive hardware to host the software, and you can outsource your maintenance and troubleshooting responsibilities to us.

Wattics pricing structure incurs an annual or monthly subscription fee per data point, which typically includes the software license and technical support.

We have 3 subscription plans according to how deep you want to go with your energy management: Essential, Advanced, Professional.

Specific requirements for branding, customisation and customer support are agreed for partners through our partnership agreement. Please contact us for more information.

Finally, once-off pricing applies for hardware equipment sourced by our network of partners, including gateway, meters, CTs, Rogowski coils, sensors and more.

We will never stop innovating! We want our customers and partners to have the most innovative and price-competitive energy management solutions in the market, and that's why we're pioneering SaaS solutions for you.
